

Honors Thesis Permission & Consent Form

Title of Honors Thesis:

Assessing impacts of multiple parasites on Striped Bass (morone saxatilis) across age classes, rivers and salinity in Chesapeake Bay.

Author's Name (Last, First):

Brunelle, Hannah

Academic Department(s)/Program:

Biology Department

I certify that this thesis is my own original work. If my thesis includes copyrighted material that is not my own original work (e.g. images, data sets, music, etc.), I have obtained permission from the copyright holder to use their work. If my thesis contains an interview, I have obtained permission from the interviewee to make their interview public. I have included all necessary permission forms in my thesis.

I grant the following level of access to my thesis (check one):

- Open Access - I am making my honors thesis permanently available to the global scholarly community in Wheaton's digital repository. I retain copyright in my work, and I am publishing it under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-ShareAlike 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-SA 4.0) license.
- Restricted Access - I do not want to make my honors thesis available to the global scholarly community. I retain copyright in my work, and access to both the print and digital versions of my honors thesis will be available only to the Wheaton community.

Author Signature

Signed

Date

Hannah Cote Brunelle

5/12/2023

Faculty Advisor Approval

Signed

Date

Andrew A. Davinack

05/15/2023